Re: Anita Caputo – Big Picture Institute

To whom it may concern:

Anita Caputo has been an instructor with the Professional Programs Division at the Sprott School of Business, Carleton University since 2004. She designed the seminar/workshop Financial Planning and Budgeting and continues to facilitate public events at Carleton University in Ottawa. She has also customized the program for the PMAC (Purchasing Managers Association of Canada) and delivered the program in major cities across Canada. Attendees at all events include both public and private sector employees.

As part of our quality control process, we conduct formal evaluations at the end of each event. The following quotes are a selection of written feedback received from the professionals attending Anita's events.

"Really felt the class was time well spent and I started to get a greater understanding of budgeting and finance."

"The exercises were an excellent tool to learn the material. The instructor knew the subject very well and provided good examples."

"I will return for additional courses if this course is an indication of other course quality."

"Great course! Excellent instructor! Thank you."

"Excellent course/instructor. She helped me better understand the role of the finance department, the terminology and the value and the importance of presenting a well-formulated forecast."

"Very good section on budget preparation and presentation, lots of good tips."

"Excellent overview of basic accounting principles."

I can confidently recommend Anita Caputo as a solid and reliable management trainer and an expert in her field.

Sincerely,

Leslie Love
